Press Credentials Policy

These guidelines outline the qualifications for obtaining a press pass to attend the Experimental Biology (EB) 2022 meeting or access its virtual newsroom. Reporters attending the meeting in person will also be required to comply with all EB 2022 COVID-19 policies, which require vaccination for anyone attending the event.

Please contact the EB media team at media@experimentalbiology.org with any questions.

1. Journalists with reporter access to EurekAlert! and those with formal credentials, such as a press club badge, qualify for a press pass.
2. Journalists who do not have press credentials or EurekAlert! access must submit two recent samples of their bylined work and provide a letter of assignment, on official letterhead, from the publication or broadcast outlet for which they are covering the EB meeting. Qualifying online outlets must provide content that is original and independent of advertising and sponsorship; personal websites do not qualify.
3. Members of the EB host societies can apply to become official meeting bloggers. Official meeting bloggers receive complimentary press passes to attend the meeting, as well as access to the EB virtual newsroom.
5. Representatives of journals that do not contain news sections are not eligible for press passes, nor are editors of journals or other publications who do not edit their outlet's news section. This rule will be strictly enforced.
6. Representatives of book, magazine and journal publishers as well as advertising and marketing representatives are ineligible for press passes.
7. Public information officers and individuals representing public relations firms must register for the meeting as nonmembers and pay the nonmember conference rate.

The conference organizers reserve the right to limit the number of passes provided to any organization and the right to deny pass requests.
